Westfair Baptist Hosts 2 State Bible Meeting

The Illinois and Wisconsin Baptist Bible Fellowship will hold its regular monthly meeting at the Westfair Baptist church beginning Monday evening, Feb. 6th with services being conducted all day Tuesday, Feb. 7.

Rev. Lon Stewart

The purpose of the monthly meeting is first of all to coordinate the home and foreign mission work of the respective churches, and secondly to provide fellowship. The Baptist Bible Fellowship International has some 1500 to 2000 member churches. The Fellowship's mission program was started 16 years ago with 12 missions in two countries and has grown to 230 missions in 25 countries. When any fellowship church sends a dollar to the missionary he gets one hundred cents on the dollar. Each local church chooses the missionary or missionaries they wish to support. Everything is done with no outside control ever exercised over the local church.

The public is welcome to attend the evening and day meetings which included good congregational singing, special music by the members of the represented churches.

Rev. Lon Stewart pastor of The Messiah Baptist church in Broadview, Illinois will be the special speaker Monday evening, and will be the guest speaker at both Sunday services Feb. 5.

Rev. Stewart along with Rev. Carl Baugh pastor of the Edgewood Baptist church, Rock Island, Ill. made a trip to the Holy Land, Egypt and Rome last summer, and will show slides of the trip in the Sunday and Monday evening services. The evening services begin at 7:30, and are open to the public.

APPROVE HOUSING LOAN FOR QUINCY PROJECT
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Housing and Urban Development announced Friday approval of a $17,600 loan to Quincy, Ill. to plan the construction of low rent homes.

Lions Club Project Reaches Far, Wide

The Jacksonville Lions Club made the final payment on the University of Illinois study and scale models received last year from the architectural classes.

A letter from Don Atkins, Chamber of Commerce executive vice president, to the Jacksonville Lions Club, calling attention to the benefits for Jacksonville resulting from the study is reproduced, in part, below:

"I can't remember if I told you about the bonus we received or not, but Dr. Williams presented the city with three additional models that were made by the fifth year architectural class, and said there is one more model he wants to bring down as soon as he makes another trip to Jacksonville."

"Also, of great interest, I think, and of great benefit to the town, is the fact that out of 500 brochures printed, 300 will be mailed to key individuals throughout the United States entertaining the notion of planning. This, in itself, is a low cost venture in public relations for the city of Jacksonville."

"If your club should wonder what this was investment in the form of contributing to the city of Jacksonville, my suggestion is that you should be quite proud and bill it as one of the highlights of your operation. The ramifications of this project are far-reaching and many times not feasible to the lay individual. However, you can be assured that this was the stimulus for the present urban renewal program and the stimulus to consider total Jacksonville development."

"Already brochures have been requested by various bonding companies who are interested in backing some of the development of the Jacksonville community."

"And it doesn't end here! An impatience for something to be done has been generated by this program sponsored by the Lions Club. If these interests can be harnessed, immediate changes are in the offing. The plan also will serve as reference for years to come."

"In behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, I would like to say thanks to the Jacksonville Lions Club for a solid community project." The letter was written by Don Atkins, executive vice president.

Robert H. Davis Pens Colombian History Volume

Robert Henry Davis, assistant professor of history at Luther College (Iowa), is the co-author of a book marking the centennial celebration of the death in Villete (Colombia) of one of Colombia's least-sung heroes, General Ramon Espina.

Davis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Davis of Jacksonville and is a graduate of Illinois College. He received his advanced degrees from Vanderbilt University and is currently a candidate for the doctorate.

Davis studied for his doctorate in Popayan, Colombia, with grants from Vanderbilt's graduate center for Latin American Studies.

Davis cooperated with Dr. J. Leon Helguerra to write the book that will bear the seal of Colombia's Academy of History.

The two young authors' work concerning the battle-scarred general may have been instrumental in elevating his image to that of hero status. They uncovered a series of more than 200 letters while studying on another project and described the letters as witty and informative.

The manuscript for the book was written entirely in Spanish. The young authors were in Jacksonville this weekend to inspect the proofs of the forthcoming book which will become a part of a series in the Library of National History which began in 1902.

While a student at Illinois College, Davis served as city editor of the Journal. He is married to the former Ruth Albright of Jacksonville.

Little Combat Fatigue Among Troops In Viet

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Remarkably few mental breakdowns and a very low rate of combat fatigue develop among U.S. and South Vietnamese troops in Vietnam, a U.S. Army medical research team reports. The team from the Walter Reed Army Institute of Research said that during the first six months of 1966, when U.S. troop strength reached 164,000 men, only 757 men were hospitalized for neuropsychiatric disorders. Only about 6 per cent of these suffered from combat fatigue, or emotional breakdown from battle pressures.

The 300,000-man Vietnamese army reported only 324 mental cases during the same time, but the American researchers said only the more seriously ill Vietnamese were hospitalized. Just under one per cent were combat fatigue cases.

One U.S. Army psychiatrist — not connected with the research team — said last month the mental health of American soldiers is better than that of the civilian population in the United States.

Capt. Jimmie R. Clemons of Dallas, Tex., psychiatrist of the 1st Infantry Division, said only 2 or 3 per cent of the patients he sees each month are seriously sick or psychotic — "a much lower proportion than you see in stateside practice."

The research team said nearly 39 per cent of the American neuropsychiatric patients in Vietnam suffer from character and behavior disorders, usually involving "an attempt to have their tour in Vietnam terminated and be returned to the United States, sometimes with a desire to be discharged from the service."

Very few of these patients have been sent home, the team's report said, because if they were evacuated "the incidence of this condition might increase considerably."

The medical team said a large group of the South Vietnamese army patients — about 30 per cent — demonstrated chronic anxiety reactions "with a typical picture of headache, insomnia and palpitations."

New Dress Code Laid Down For Cleveland Pupils

CLEVELAND, Ohio. (AP) — Boys, put your hands in your front trouser pockets and do a deep knee bend.

If the seat of your pants is intact when you stand up, your trousers conform to the new citywide dress code for high school pupils in Cleveland—a code set up by the pupils themselves.

Other taboos listed include lace stockings, eye shadow and loud rouge for girls, naturally and exposed suspenders and

T-shirts, shirts with tails out, and Beanie haircuts for boys. Miniskirts made the list, and the new code also puts a ban on girls wearing letter sweaters belonging to boy friends who attend other schools because the sweaters are "not conducive to building school spirit and loyalty."

The code also calls for daily bathing and use of deodorant. This isn't an indication that Cleveland school pupils are failing to follow standards of good dress and hygiene, it's just that the pupils codified uniform standards that most schools already use, it was explained.

The code says that "the school is a businesslike institution," and the pupils on the citywide council for student governments of junior and senior high schools want dress to conform with good taste. Conella Brown, an administrative assistant for the Cleveland School Board, said the reaction has been favorable, "but I suspect somebody somewhere will react unfavorably." Mrs. Brown said the pupils have been working on the code since last September and they decided "these are the standards we feel we ought to follow." She said that the teenagers wanted to set their own standards "rather than having adults set them."

New Patient Service Center Honors Dr. C. S. Drake, Former Superintendent

Opening Set For Friday

The long-awaited opening of Jacksonville State Hospital's Drake Patient Service Center will be held Friday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock on the hospital grounds.

The center is an integral part of the care and treatment program according to hospital officials and will allow a maximum opportunity for patients to develop or renew socializing skills.

The building features extensive use of glass and brick along with other modern attractive construction materials. Inside, visitors will find the commissary, a spacious lounge, the patients' library and the barber and beauty shops. The building has been completed for several months but lack of funds for furnishings prevented the opening.

The Drake Patient Service Center has been named in honor of Dr. C. St. Clair Drake, who was superintendent of the hospital from July, 1929 to June 1935. During Dr. Drake's tenure, special emphasis was placed on hospital-community cooperation in patient programs.

Dr. Drake was born January 23, 1870, in St. Thomas, Ontario, Canada, and was educated in the public and collegiate schools of that country. He came to the United States in 1887 to begin his study of medicine and graduated four years later from the Chicago Homeopathic College.

In 1895 he began his distinguished career in public service that continued almost without a break for 40 years, with an appointment in the Health Department of the City of Chicago. Here his duties afforded him a wide range of experience, and his original work in public health education brought him nationwide attention.

Governor Edward F. Dunne appointed him as a member of the Illinois State Board of Health in 1914 and he later became director of the new state department until 1921.

On retiring from that office he engaged in the publication of a magazine, "Health" for a year, then in the management of the second Pageant of Progress at the Municipal Pier in Chicago.

On June 27, 1929, Dr. Drake was appointed by Governor L. L. Emmerson as managing officer of the Jacksonville State Hospital and had almost completed his sixth year of service in that post at the time of his death.

The Jacksonville State Hospital, under Dr. Drake's management, was the first to demonstrate the importance and the benefits of a well planned program of recreational therapy. Activities such as games, dancing, playing in a band or orchestra, and others which have been beneficial in the outside world, were introduced.

The therapeutic benefits of roller skating for the mentally ill were discovered and advocated first in the state by Dr. Drake.

Realizing the importance of socialization of patients, Dr. Drake established the practice of a weekly schedule of social events for the entertainment and participation of patients. Close contact was maintained at all times with the outside world. The local community was often invited in for the social occasions.

The celebration of national holidays was given the same value at the hospital as in the outside world.

The two speakers will be James Sichelau, senior from Vineland, N.Y., "The God Is Dead Controversy;" and Dwight Collins, senior from Allendale, Ill., "Christianity Is an Action Program."

Sophomore Frank Martin from Chicago will offer the morning prayer and will give scripture reading. Senior Louis Vache from Ferguson, Mo. will give the call to worship, invocation, and Psalter reading.

A colony of Norway rats, bred in scientific laboratories since the mid-19th Century, has changed anatomically from the wild species. Protected for generations, the rats have developed smaller brains and adrenal glands, and they mature earlier. The changes apparently make the rats tamer, more tractable, unaggressive and fecund, thus better suited for their manmade environment.

McHALEY NAMED AIRPORT MANAGER

BEARDSTOWN — The Greater Beardstown Airport facilities have been completed to the extent that it can be used 24 hours a day as soon as state inspections bring a final OK.

Young Bill McHaley has been designated as airport manager but has not yet taken over his duties.

Runway lights and wind signal lights have just been installed, according to Park District committee members.

This is the final work needed to get an approval from the state for 24 hour a day operation.

However the Park Board still faces the problem of providing adequate hangars and an administration building. The north-south runway and parking area have been blacktopped as has part of the road leading from the Arenzville blacktop to the port.

Beardstown industrial users have been landing their planes here for several months, and others also have been utilizing the field.

SPRING KNITS BY BUTTE KNIT

with ED GARLICH
U.S. FARMERS USED MORE PLANT FOOD IN 1966!
Best estimates are that the use of fertilizers by farmers in the Midwest went up more than 5% in 1966. During the first seven months of the year the output by fertilizer factories was up for all three of the fertility elements. Nitrogen output was up 25%, phosphate production was up 18% and potash was up too.
Latest figures from the industry show that the acreage fertilized was up 10% in the Midwest. Figures indicate that 86% of the corn acreage was fertilized, 88% of the wheat was, and 16% of soybeans received fertility treatment.
Average application per acre of crops was 271.5. This figure was 50 pounds above the figure obtained in the 1959 census.
FROM THE CORN CRIB
A noted sociologist was lecturing to a women's club on the crisis arising from the world population explosion.
"Somewhere in the world a woman is giving birth to a child every sixty seconds—day and night," he began. "Now, what are we going to do about it?"
A lady in the audience raised her hand. "I think we should find that woman," she said, "and stop her!"

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The 1967 stock market stepped into February showing no disposition to change its vigorous January up-trend.

The transition week, including the last two days of January and the first three of February, produced the greatest weekly volume in stock market history. The week's turnover was 54,128,160 shares which topped the previous record of 53.5 million in the week ended last April 15.

It was the same 1967 market, still spurred by the reversal of last year's tight money-high interest rate handicap into one of easing money and declining interest rates.

Added to this was the rising confidence of the stock market community which demonstrated an increasing reluctance to stay out of a bandwagon market even though analysts were free in predicting a correction, consolidation or whatever else they wanted to call a temporary decline.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 3.5 to 47.2.

The Dow Jones industrial average gained 13.42 to 857.46. This put it close to the 860-870 area which has been forecasted by technicians as a band where heavy profit-taking might possibly result in a decline to consolidate around the 820 to 830 level.

Of 1,578 issues traded during the week on the New York Stock Exchange, 972 advanced and 481 declined.

Glamor stocks, especially situated issues and others which drew speculative buying put on a better performance than the conservative blue chips. Standard Oil (New Jersey), however, added a husky 1 1/2 points.

Wednesday brought the only market decline of the week, and it was just the second clear-cut market loss of 1967. All the other sessions afforded gains.

As January ended, the Dow Industrials stood at 849.89. This meant that in a single month the average had recovered 64.20 points of the net loss of 183.57 taken in 1966. At the bottom of the 1966 market, the Dow Industrials showed a loss of 250.87, a 25 per cent decline.

Municipal and short-term sectors of the bond market were strong. Corporate bonds and governments were unchanged to lower.

accompanying Kosygin to London.

The Soviet Union is described as anxious for a Vietnam peace settlement but unwilling to push Hanoi to the conference table.

Hanoi is reported apprehensive about losing ground at new peace talks. Some diplomats here express the belief the Russians want to avoid the risk of pushing Hanoi to the conference table and later accepting blame for possible Hanoi disappointments.

The Soviet Union has stated repeatedly it would not call for a new Geneva conference on Vietnam unless Hanoi asked for one. They have given this reply to the British when asked to call such a conference. Britain and the Soviet Union are co-chairmen of the conference.

Life Insurance Program Set For Wednesday

Members of the Jacksonville Association of Life Underwriters will meet Wednesday noon at Hamilton's restaurant to hear Robert H. Hall, Jr., C.L.U., deliver the message, "The World Awaits."

Then in recent years, "private clubs" began serving mixed drinks over the bar. Technically, a club member bought his liquor in advance and the bartender merely served the liquor that had already been purchased. The bar check was for set-ups only — technically. The club bought the liquor like any bar and "pooled" it.

A recent count by the Texas Liquor Control Board showed at least 1,154 private clubs in the state, many in hotels, motels and restaurants where a guest automatically became a "club member."

"It is my considered opinion that a far more wholesome climate will prevail if liquor can be sold by the drink, legally and under tight regulation," said Connolly, who is a member of at least one private club in the capital city.

Texans Debate Legalizing Sale Of Mixed Drinks

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The paper bag that has been the companion of Texas tipplers for decades may be on the way out.

Gov. John B. Connally recommended to the State Legislature this week that it legalize sale of mixed drinks — with a five-cent levy on each one ounce of liquor used in the concoction.

The results would benefit the money-short state treasury by at least $15 million in the 1968-69 fiscal period, said Connally, who is a nondrinker except for an occasional glass of appetizer wine before meals.

A tide of reaction also resulted, from the bar to the pulpit. Since national prohibition was repealed, Texas has had local option liquor laws allowing each community to decide within limits its local drinking habits. Currently about 115 of the 254 counties are totally dry, while the others allow sale of some sort of alcoholic beverages.

Whisky, gin and vodka may be sold only in the bottle in privately owned liquor package stores operated separately from any eating or entertainment place.

Since 1935 it has been an acceptable social and legal custom for Texans in wet counties to carry their bottles in paper sacks into restaurants or night clubs and plunk the portable refreshment on the table. Shy drinkers hid the bottle behind the nearest table leg. Waitresses cheerfully furnished the materials necessary to complete a mixed drink for a price that came close to equalling a complete mixed drink in other states.

sudden rise in the oxygen flow into the suits. He said investigators have not been able to relate this to the blaze.

There also were reports of irregular data from one of the spacecraft systems and a drop in a C-band communications beacon.

Even if the cause of the fire never is found, NASA is studying means of preventing a repeat of the tragedy without jeopardizing the moon schedule too much.

One proposal is to equip the Apollo spacecraft with an explosive hatch that could fly off quickly. The Mercury and Gemini capsules had quick escape systems. But designers said such a hatch might weaken the structural integrity of the Apollo craft—which will have to return to earth under much greater pressure and heat than did the earlier vehicles.

Experts also are studying the possibility of modifying the breathing gas in the cabin. Pure oxygen under pressure is a dangerous fire hazard in the presence of a spark. It was chosen for Apollo because of its simplicity and the reliability gained in 16 manned space flights.

NASA is considering switching to an air-like oxygen-nitrogen system on the ground and during the launch phase and pressurizing to 100 per cent oxygen in orbit. The suits would remain on pure oxygen at all times.

In orbit, the cabin could be depressurized swiftly, snuffing out any fire in the vacuum of space. This can't be done on the ground because of pressure and oxygen in the air.

For future flights, it appears there is a possibility of only one manned Apollo mission this year, and that could slip into 1968 depending on the Apollo 1 findings.

The crew will be Air Force Lt. Col. James A. McDivitt and David R. Scott and civilian Russell L. Schweickart. They are 32, 34 and 36 years old, respectively, and will launch separately to practice all maneuvers for a moon journey.

They'll fly a Block 2 Apollo craft, more sophisticated than the Apollo 1 Block 1 vehicle. The Block 1 spacecrafts, two of which flew on unmanned tests, have been troublesome.

Renew Protests Vs. Anti-Russ Acts By Chinese

MOSCOW (AP) — Asserting Soviet patience was wearing thin, the Kremlin fired off its second protest in a week to Communist China Saturday, demanding a halt to demonstrations and harassment of diplomats at the Soviet Embassy in Peking. It threatened to take steps to safeguard Soviet citizens and interests in China.

Diplomats in Moscow speculated the Kremlin might be preparing some kind of new move since Peking had ignored previous protests over the past nine days of anti-Soviet demonstrations in the Chinese capital. The diplomats said the Soviet Union might recall its diplomats and close down the embassy temporarily.

At the same time the Foreign Ministry announced that 200 wives and children of Soviet officials and teachers of the Soviet school in Peking were being summoned home. Forty of them returned to Moscow Saturday.

The announcement said 60 male officials were remaining at their Peking posts.

There was no immediate reaction from Red China, which itself is embroiled in an internal power struggle between Communist party leader Mao Tse-tung and President Liu Shao-chi. Liu is accused of favoring a Soviet brand of communism which the Chinese call revisionism.

A Tass, Soviet news agency, dispatch from Peking said pro-Mao Red Guards continued their demonstrations outside the Soviet Embassy. The news agency added that a Soviet Embassy bus had been halted by several thousand Chinese, some of whom slashed the tires and took the ignition key from the driver.

The conclusion of those closest to the matter is that the war will go on for some time to come and all planning is on this basis.

Although it is questionable whether infiltration from North Vietnam is declining substantially, Communist military units have suffered defeats and the Viet Cong is plagued with desertions and a shortage of manpower.

Even though the military situation is regarded as satisfactory, this administration official foresees a crucial period of political development in South Vietnam this spring and summer. This will begin with district and village elections in March.

American officials are generally pleased with the way the new South Vietnam constitution is shaping up. They were happily surprised by Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's pledge to move general elections ahead to three months after the constitution is agreed upon.

Even though the efforts to negotiate an end to the war have been discouraging, they look for a greatly improved situation in South Vietnam by the end of this year.

COLLEGE SCENE NOT THE SAME

The mighty UCLA basketball team and sensational sophomore Lew Alcindor have already caused quite a stir in college basketball circles, but chances are, "you haven't seen anything yet."

Not in recent memory has one team or one player received such notice, and apparently well-deserved notice. Not since the short college career of Wilt Chamberlain anyway.

YOU DON'T know a football from a basketball if you haven't heard of Alcindor, who is listed all the way from 7' 1 3/4" to 7' 3". He was receiving national magazine write-ups when he was still attending Power Memorial High School in New York City, and teams of copy on him have been turned out since. Writers, who like the unusual or outstanding, may soon find themselves out of adjectives and new angles on the already super-star.

The only thing more disturbing to the nation's major college basketball powers than Alcindor is the rest of the UCLA squad. Three other sophomores, all at one time or another rated all-Americans themselves, are starting for the top-ranked Bruins, and the other is a junior.

IF UCLA looks unbeatable now, what about the next two years? And, according to all that has been written, the Bruins do look unbeatable this year. How will this "once-in-a-lifetime" team effect college basketball for the next three years? There have been many conjectures, ranging from how it will hurt the game to it may help the sport.

Only time will tell. One thing for sure, the public hasn't yet tired of seeing UCLA roll merrily on its way. The Bruins draw packed-houses, barring snowstorms, wherever they play.

Chances are, assuming the Bruins continue to dominate the way they are now, the luster will not wear off to the point of a lack of interest. The Boston Celtics were never far from a following. Sports fans still like to see the excellent.

PERHAPS THE biggest discussion on the West Coast concerning Alcindor now is, "Is Alcindor getting too much—or not enough—protection by officials?"

His coach, John Wooden, says Lew is not getting enough protection and adds, "I will keep harping on it as long as Lew is being treated the way he is." Wooden was upset when Alcindor fouled out of the Washington game (which UCLA won 83-68) at Seattle, the first time ever for Lew.

"I'm glad he's not the aggressive type," says Wooden, "or he would have been out of there in five minutes the way they were calling them on him."

WASHINGTON COACH Mac Duckworth disagreed. "It was a rough game, but it was partly because he (Alcindor) played that way. He backs into you, he hits you and he reaches over your shoulder and makes contact while trying to get a rebound. Of course, any big man is bound to step on a few people."

So rages the "Great Debate." Next step, already in motion, is whether Alcindor is better at the same stage than Russel or Chamberlain, or perhaps better at any stage.

It seems odd that the biggest question the second week in March for the next three years won't be as to who will be NCAA champion, but who is second or third best, and whether Alcindor is the greatest ever.

Ferraris Command 24-Hour Road Race

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A Swiss driver narrowly escaped death in a fiery collision Saturday night as Ferrari's pack of red racers took command of the 24-hour Continental road race.

The Swiss, Charles Vogelle, somehow got out of his German Porsche after it bounced off a wall and burst into a ball of hot flame six hours after the start of the race. He was hospitalized for treatment of shock and deep facial cuts.

Going into a sharp turn, Vogelle brushed a Ferrari driven by either Carlos Sales or Hector Rebaque of Mexico and crashed into the wall. The Ferrari was badly damaged but its driver escaped unhurt.

A third car was reported to have been involved in the collision but sped on down the course. The fire in the Porsche was quickly put out.

Other cars flashed through the smoke and shower of sparks on the 173rd lap of the marathon race, with Ferrari's running 1-2-3 at the head of the pack.

Ferrari had begun to dominate the race after a Chaparral which led for three hours spun off a wall and was too badly damaged to continue.

Chaparral Leads Early
Coming out onto the track after one stop, the Chaparral's driver, Phil Hill, hit an oil slick and bounced off the wall twice. As he limped back to his pit, three Ferraris which had been riding hard on Hill's fire-spitting tailpipe in the darkness charged into 1-2-3 leadership.

The accident was the break Italian sports car manufacturer Enzo Ferrari had awaited. Expecting that the Chaparral might burn itself out in the pace-setting role he had kept his full fleet of factory speedsters in position to take charge.

Coming back with a vengeance after losing his world championship to Ford last year, Ferrari now was in great shape to win this first of the 1967 title races.

All of the Ford Mark II's which brought the championship to this nation in 1966 were being hauled in now and some were experiencing difficulties. There was a "lot of little things," a Ford spokesman said.

Hill, the Santa Monica, Calif., daredevil who became the first American to win a world driving championship, piloted the weirdest-looking machine in this first race of a series for the 1967 World Sports Car Championship.

WEIRD DEVICE
Mounted to the car and suspended two feet over his head, was a device resembling a clipped airplane wing. Operated from the cockpit, it presumably helped to slow him as he shot into the sharp curves of the 3.81-mile course to help save wear on his brakes.

Robisch, Senators Hold Off Crimsons

SPRINGFIELD — All-State center Dave Robisch led Springfield to a 52% shooting clip that allowed the Senators to beat back repeated second-half Jacksonville rallies and slip past the determined Crimsons, 67-59, here Saturday night.

The 6-9 Robisch poured in 34 points and was the Senators' mainstay in the clutch as the hosts broke to an eight-point halftime lead and managed to stay just a step ahead of the cold-shooting Jacksonville club.

Springfield, in running its record to 18-3, hit a hot 25% clip for the game, including a blazing 76% in the second quarter in which the eventual winners burst open what had been an air-tight contest. While the Solons hit their buckets at a better than 50% rate, JHS suffered through a 33% evening.

The score was tied 11 times in the first half, and the lead changed hands on five occasions before Springfield poured in the final eight points of the half to lead by 34-26 at intermission.

The hustling Crimsons refused to fold and roared back to within two points midway through the third frame before Springfield rode Robisch's scoring to a 52-44 spread entering the closing eight minutes.

Jacks Get Close
Jacksonville got within six points twice in the final frame, but each time Robisch came through with a clutch bucket or free toss to put out the fire.

Sophomore center Duane Mounds was the Crimsons' offensive leader, tossing in 18 points, missing part of the third quarter and fouling out with a minute left in the game. Mounds hit eight of 20 shots from the floor. Robin Manker, Duane Hess and Rich Coble each managed double figures, but scoring leader Abe Brown was held to a season's low of five points, hitting just two of 14 shots from out.

Back And Forth
The first half was tied at 2, 4, 6, 8, 11, 13, 15, 20, 22, 24 and 26, with Robisch carrying his club and Mounds, Manker and Hess keeping Jacksonville in the running.

The eventual losers once led by three, 18-15, which was the biggest lead until Springfield's final burst. Robisch hit a layup, Mark Stoddard, who swished four of four shots in the quarter, added two 15-footers and guard Tom Langford broke loose for a fast break bucket to run the halftime count to 34-26. Springfield hit ten of 13 shots in the quarter.

Come Back In Third
After the Senators ran the difference to ten on a Robisch bucket to open the second half, Mounds hit two quick buckets. Manker added a two-pointer and Brown a charity throw as Jacksonville sliced the margin to 36-33. Seconds later Manker added another bucket and Chad Ormiston two free tosses to reduce the lead to 39-37.

Price, who had 31 points, put Millikin ahead 12-19, on a tip-in with 12:19 remaining to play. Sunderlik had 29 as Millikin upped its league mark to 4-1 and raised its season record to 9-1.

Augustana was led by Steve Snow with 22 points and Stan Futtemack with 21. Augustana, who held a narrow 48-44 half-time lead, is 3-4 in CCI play and 18-5 overall.

Greenville Rally In 2nd Edges IC

By BUTCH BENDING
Illinois College's inability to score from the floor and Greenville's hot shooting in the second half, was the difference as Greenville nipped the Blueboys 86-79, Saturday evening at the IC gym in a Prairie College Conference game.

IC hit a cold 21% from the floor in the last half, as the Panthers scored a sizzling 60%, to overcome a five-point IC halftime lead. The loop loss knocks IC out of a tie with Rose Poly for the lead.

The Panthers tied the score with 14:13 remaining in the final half on a basket by Tom Jackson and Greenville dominated the next seven minutes of play. The Blueboys failed to connect from the floor and the visitors pulled away to a ten-point lead with 7:18 to play.

Greenville failed to score for the next three minutes of play, but IC could only cut the lead to seven point with 4:25 left in the game. IC continually missed two and three shots at its end of the floor, as the Blueboys completely dominated the offensive boards but couldn't put the ball in the hoop.

Stay Within Range
The Blueboys made a game of it as Pete Gallatin and Charlie Martin combined for 12 points in the next two minutes of play, to bring IC within one point, 80-79 with 1:40 left on the clock. Greenville then stalled and as IC was forced to foul Jackson and Doug Ambuehl clearly put in two charity tosses apiece to ice the game for the Panthers.

IC opened slowly, scoring only nine points in the first four minutes of play, but still managed to lead the Panthers 9-7, with 16:02 left in the opening half.

Picking up a little momentum, the Blueboys pulled away to an eight-point lead, 27-19 with 8:33 remaining in the half. IC maintained its margin for the next four minutes before Greenville and Jim Parsons started connecting from the floor to cut the lead to three points with 1:59 left in the half.

IC Leads At Half
Lawrence scored the last bucket of the half on a twenty-foot jump shot with 1:29 remaining as the Blueboys led by five at the break, 40-35.

Paul Runkle scored in the second half to preserve IC's five-point lead, after Parsons had gunned in a thirty-foot jumper. Dick Clough widened the Blueboy margin to seven with a pair of free throws, to 44-37.

Greenville came up quickly on the Blueboys as Tom Muskopf and Parsons combined for eight quick points to bring the score to 52-50. Jackson then scored for the Panthers to knot the game at 52-52.

Martin and Lawrence each hit on a free throw to tie the score for the last time at 54-54, as Greenville hit its next five shots from the floor to make the score 64-55. 10:27 left to play.

Muskopf hit five out of six free throws in the next 35 seconds of play as the Panthers pulled out to a nine-point lead 68-59, and the Blueboys could never quite catch up.

Sanders Grabs Lead In Desert Classic

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Doug Sanders knocked five strokes off par for a 67 Saturday in a strong bid to win the $110,000 Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic for the second straight year.

As Sanders' rival big name professionals fired and fell back, dapper Doug toured the Bermuda Dunes Country Club course in 33-44 to post a 72-hole total of 275, nine shots under par for the route.

The 90-hole grind ends Sunday. Tom Nieporte, a 37-year-old club pro from Locust Valley, N.Y., scored his third straight 68 for 280, while George Archer had a 66 and Frank Boynton, another club pro from East Euclid, Ohio, registered a 65, the lowest round thus far, giving each a 281.

Play over the four par 36-36—72 courses was blessed with ideal weather — sunny, warm and virtually windless.

Nicklaus Slips
Jack Nicklaus played the first nine in 37 and then put together a string of three straight birdies on the 11th, 12th and 13th holes. But he hit out of bounds on No. 14 and took a double bogey six. He finished with 34 and 71 for 283.

Arnold Palmer, two-time winner of the Hope event and loser to Sanders in a playoff last year, never did get untracked, and his 76 for 289, 10 strokes behind Sanders, practically eliminated Arnie in the race for the $17,600 first prize.

Billy Casper had a 73 for 285. It had been freely predicted that the Big Three plus one — Nicklaus, Palmer, Casper and Sanders — would wreck the usually easy Bermuda Dunes layout. Only Sanders delivered.

Young Tom Weiskopf, the surprise leader after three rounds, faded with a 77 for 287. He took a four-over-par seven on the sixth hole at La Quinta Country Club as he hit the ball from one side of the fairway to the other.

MACOMB, Ill. (AP) — Led by Steve Arenas and Jerry McGreal, Illinois State defeated Western Illinois 88-82 Saturday night in an Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference basketball game.

The Bowling Scene

by Sandy Petersen

Several new league highs were set during last week's local circuit action, while other play witnessed two leads changing hands.

Three season high marks were set in the Elks League alone, where Bob Staples and Bill Dickerson put on a two-man scoring show with respective 264 game and 651 series efforts.

Staples' 264 sparked Jacksonville Foods No. 2 to a 1113 middle game, second high team game of the year, while Dickerson's 220, 259, 173-651 recording led league-leading Cox Buick-Pontiac to a sweep. The 3-0 night increased Cox's lead to 1½-games over Baker Chevrolet.

Budweiser recorded the league's third new high on a 1021, 1070, 1087-3178 team total.

Third place Powell's Body Shop netted high team totals of 649 and 2304 to pick up ground on 3-Man Handicap League front-runners Bowling Center and Hembrough Motors. The latter clubs, one-two respectively, fought to a 2-2 decision, with Powell's moving up via a 4-0 sweep.

Jim Ford rolled a 248 for the game high, while George Manker connected 212, 184, 201, 211-808 for the series best.

Wade and Dowland prevented the Bowling Center from running away with the Scratch Classic League crown last week, by dumping the leaders 4-0. Wade and Dowland, in second place by 12 games going in, now stands only eight back.

Besco's Sterling Elliott highlighted the action with a stellar 261, while Al McCarthy copped the series high with a 783 recording.

Bud Schneider powered La-Crosse Lumber to a 2-1 night in Community League action last week, tossing in a nifty 177, 179, 224-580 set.

The effort lifted La-Crosse to the week's high team total — 3113. Pepsi Cola netted the high game on a 1095 count.

Jim's Big Value maintained its game lead over Kordite during the action, despite a 1-2 showing.

Blackhawk Restaurant copped its second straight sweep last week to take over second place in the Bowlerette League, four-games off Bates Market's pace. Week high marks of 857 and 2424 maneuvered the climb.

Despite Margaret Allen's fine 163, 213, 151-527 performance, previously second-running Ingram Electric fell into third by suffering a 1-2 night.

Lawson-Miller tallied high team marks of 364 and 993 last week to remain 1½ games out in front in the Friday Nite Mixed Doubles League.

Rod Wallace picked up the series best with a 189, 183, 196-568 performance, while Charlotte Burnett copped the game high on a fine 212.

GOING DOWN: Jacksonville wrestler Dick Herrin prepares for a take-down here over Bob Chabot of Decatur MacArthur. The Crimson 133-pounder lost this first-round match on an 11-5 decision, but came back in the finals to earn third place for JHS Saturday.

PERSISTENT: Chip Sutphen, JHS's outstanding 127-pound wrestler, tries to maneuver Terry Aho of Springfield Lanphier for a pin during their first-round match in the Capital conference mat tournament held Saturday afternoon at the JHS Bowl. Sutphen won this match, 18-2, but lost to Bayliff of Feitshans in the championship match to suffer his first defeat of the season.

Flyers Shade JHS For League Title

Springfield Feitshans shaded Jacksonville by a single point to dethrone the Crimsons and claim the Capital Conference wrestling title, Saturday afternoon at the JHS Bowl.

Feitshans, one of two teams to defeat JHS in a dual meet this season, ended up with 80 points, to Jacksonville's 79. Decatur MacArthur was a distant third with 64, followed by Decatur Eisenhower with 50 and Springfield Lanphier with 42.

Feitshans built up a sizeable lead in the first round, but JHS came back to trail by only 68-63 entering the consolation and championship matches. The eventual winners put eight in the finals to seven for the Crimsons.

The actual winning margin came on second and third places, as Jacksonville finished with four individual champions as compared to Feitshans' three. The Crimsons also posted three seconds and a fourth.

After Feitshans claimed the first two individual champs with Roland winning at 95 and Huff at 103, JHS came back with Art McPike taking the 112-pound title and Roger Spaulding the 120-pound crown.

Bayliff of Feitshans won the 127 crown, Cook of Eisenhower won at 133, Riley of MacArthur at 138 and Bond of Eisenhower at 145.

Bob Dennis, loser of only one match this season, claimed the 154-pound belt and Terry Hamers the 165-pound crown to end the JHS individual titles. Thomalla of Eisenhower copped the 180 title and Koutz of Lanphier the heavyweight trophy.

Seconds by Crimsons were Dave Hornbeck at 95, Steve Maurer at 100 and Chip Sutphen at 127. Sutphen, who entered the tourney with a 16-0 record, suffered his first defeat of the season in the championship match.

Thirds by Dick Herrin at 133 and Gerald Stewart in the heavyweight and a fourth by Doug Reining at 133 rounded out the Crimsons' scoring for the afternoon.

OLSON SETS TURNER MARK — Tim Olson set a Jonathan Turner one-game scoring record Saturday as the seventh-grader poured in 41 points, on 17 of 25 shots from the floor, in pacing his 7A team to a 71-38 victory over Porta. Porta's 8A squad nipped Turner, 46-37.

Illini Snap Northwestern Big Ten Unbeaten Mark 93-83

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Northwestern's perfect Big Ten basketball record was snapped at four straight by scrappy Illinois, 93-83, despite serious injury to Illini veteran Deon Flessner Saturday afternoon.

Northwestern, falling well below its 96.4-point average, led only once in the entire game, at 30-29, and lagged by as many as 11 points in the second half although the Wildcats spurred to trail only 81-79 with 3:10 left.

It was the third Big Ten win against two setbacks for Illinois which averaged a 104-96 loss at Northwestern on Jan. 10.

Sophomore Dave Scholtz, who did not commit a foul in the rough game, and Capt. Jim Dawson paced the Illini with 26 points each.

Jim Burns, who fouled out with 2:44 remaining, was the game's top scorer with 29. The Wildcats lost four players on fouls and the Illini lost three, plus Flessner, who had to be carried off the floor on a stretcher after a spill midway in the opening half.

Kidney injury — Flessner fell flat on his back while rebounding and first report at a hospital was that he suffered a kidney injury.

The Wildcats crept to within five points, 80-75, on a disputed basket by Terry Gamber. After a fifth foul was whistled on Illini Les Busbroom, Northwestern scored on Gamber's basket before the confused Illini had a chance to replace Busbroom.

Despite the defeat, Northwestern maintained the league lead with a 4-1 record.

Dominant Boards — As in the first game at Evanston, the Illini again dominated the boards, grabbing 55 rebounds to Northwestern's 45.

F. Robinson Has Goal To Be Manager — NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Robinson, full of honors and mellow now in his regained stardom, has set his sights on a lofty pinnacle — to become a major league baseball manager.

"The prejudice against Negroes in baseball is dying to a certain extent but it is still there," he said calmly. "It is just a matter of time before some owner breaks the color line with a manager."

"He must be a solid, sound baseball man, and not chosen merely because of his color. If he is right, he won't have any trouble at all."

Plenty Of Glory — Glory he has a plenty. He is the Associated Press Male Athlete of the Year for 1966, the American League's Most Valuable Player, the American League batting champion at .316, the league's leading home run hitter at 49, the league's leader in runs batted in with 122, the winner of the Hickok $10,000 gold and diamond belt as Professional Athlete of the Year, the winner of the Babe Ruth Award as best player in the 1966 World Series and possessor of a new $100,000 per year contract.

Mellowness New — Robinson's mellowness is new. Traded before the 1966 season by the Cincinnati Reds to the Baltimore Orioles, he came with a reputation of being somewhat hard to handle. Leading the Orioles to the American League pennant and then to a four game sweep of the World Series over the Los Angeles Dodgers he was all tact and diplomacy.

Now a frequent after-dinner speaker, he is poised and articulate. He had 25 engagements this winter. The previous winter he had none.

Robinson's big year in Cincinnati was 1961 when he won the National League's Most Valuable Player title.

In fact, he is the only man to be MVP in both major leagues. But in 1963 his batting average slipped to .259, rose to .306 in 1964, then declined to .296 in 1965. His popularity dipped, too. Robs are on the beam now.

Wichita State Nips St. Louis At Finish 63-61 — WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Wichita State University defeated St. Louis University 63-61 today in a Missouri Valley Conference basketball thriller in which the lead changed hands three times in the last two minutes.

St. Louis, trailing 62-61, lost the ball on a foul in the final seconds. Bob Cole was charged with an error against Wichita's Ron Washington, who got a final free throw.

The Billikens' Gene Moore was the game's high scorer and top rebounder with 17 points and Jamie Thompson scored 16 points and teammate Melvin Reed had 15.

Wichita took the lead once just before going out on the short end of a 30-29 halftime score, then gained the lead once in the first moments of the second half before going into the game-ending thriller.

Louisville Nips Cincinnati 65-57 — LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Third-ranked Louisville moved a step closer to a Missouri Valley Conference basketball championship Saturday night with a 65-57 victory over Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, the only team to defeat Louisville in conference play this season, was in danger of being chased out of the gym in the first half when Louisville raced to a 17-point lead at 32-15. This came after 14 minutes to play.

But, the Bearcats, now 4-4 in MVC play, narrowed the gap to 37-28 at halftime.

Cincinnati pulled within four points shortly after the second half began but never caught up. Louisville, in the lead in the MVC, was paced by 6-foot-7 Westley Unseld, who scored 19 points and pulled down 10 rebounds. Sophomore Butch Beard added 14.

Rick Robinson of Cincinnati scored 16 points and had 10 rebounds for the Bearcats.

PREP GAME TODAY — Routt will host St. Paul's of Highland in a rare Sunday high school basketball game at 3:00 this afternoon. The Highland school comes north every other year, playing Mt. Sterling St. Mary's on a Saturday and Routt on Sunday afternoon, then hosts the two area teams on alternating seasons.

Routt, which got off to a dismal 1-9 start, has played improved ball of late, winning three of its last five starts for a 4-11 record to date.

Clay Defends Title Eighth Time Monday

Clay, still appealing his 1-A status in the military draft, will defend his disputed world heavyweight title for the eighth time Monday night in the Astrodome against Ernie Terrell, recognized as champ by the World Boxing Association.

Clay is a 4-1 favorite with little betting interest reported by legal Las Vegas bookmaking establishments.

The 15-round match in the unique domed arena is expected to boost the 25-year-old Clay's earnings since he won the title from Sonny Liston close to the $3 million mark.

About 35,000 fans are expected to watch the bout in person and many thousands more will see it on closed circuit television or via the two satellites to Europe and Asia. The scrap also will be carried on radio by the Mutual Broadcasting System.

Starts At 9:10 p.m. — The two fighters are due to enter the ring at 9:30 p.m. CST and actual fighting is due to begin at about 9:40 p.m. CST.

For the first time in his career as champ, Clay will be taking on an opponent with an advantage in height and reach. Clay, 6-foot-2½ inches, with a 79-inch reach, will be facing a stiff left jab thrown by the 6-6 Terrell with his 82-inch reach.

Clay, who prefer to be known as Muhammad Ali and is appealing his draft status on Muslim ministerial grounds, has a perfect 37-0 record with 22 knockouts. He won the crown when Liston quit in his corner at Miami Beach, Feb. 25, 1964. In two 1965 defenses he wiped out Liston in one round and stopped Floyd Patterson, another ex-

Terrell, a quiet soft-spoken man in contrast to the gabby Clay, became the WBA champ March 5, 1965 by beating Eddie Machem in Chicago after the WBA withdrew recognition from Clay because of his return bout contract with Liston.

Big Ernie, a guitar player who has his own singing group, defended the WBA version of the championship against Chuvalo, Nov. 1, 1965 and against Doug Jones in Houston, June 23.

Terrell has a 39-4 record for 43 starts since 1957 and has knocked out 18 men. His main forte is a left jab thrown with stinging effect, although he claims he can punish a man with his right hand.

Council To Decide On Urban Renewal Project Area Soon

Within the next month, Jacksonville's city council will be presented with the decision of where to locate the first urban renewal project area.

And, in all likelihood, the choices available to them will all deal with downtown locations.

These facts were learned Saturday from John R. Pine, local urban renewal director, who has been consulting with local businessmen and property owners in the downtown district for the past two weeks.

Pine said that the response and interest expressed by downtown merchants and landowners has been "most encouraging." He said that the aldermen will not be faced with the exacting decision of where to locate Project I, but rather just give approval of the general project area.

To Pick Most Feasible
The council will also be advised as to which project area in the downtown district is the most feasible, and later have the ultimate decision of whether or not to proceed with the project once the final plans have been drawn.

During the past weeks, approximately 50 property owners and operators of business firms around the square have been invited to discussion sessions with Pine.

The groups range in number from three to four, and the sessions usually last two hours, with a many as three during the day.

Pine said he has been most encouraged by the response, and the interest shown by all of those attending.

"Many of the people have the attitude, 'I don't mind having my business disrupted as long as something is going to be done,'" Pine commented.

$100,000 Surveys
He explains to the businessmen that since 1960, there has been over $100,000 spent on surveys and reports on what needs to be done in the city.

Included in those reports and surveys have been the Kincaid Report, the University of Illinois study, financed by the Lions club, and the most recent urban renewal study.

"This averages out to about over $1,000 per month spent for surveys."

During his presentation, Pine explains several possible urban renewal plans for the city, dealing with the downtown area, which will be designed to strengthen the downtown business core, provide better parking facilities, and improve the flow of traffic.

Pine also said that the Urban Planning Consultants of Chicago, hired by the city to make the urban renewal study, will start an interior study of building structures in the urban renewal area.

The area is bordered by Independence street to the north, Chambers on the south, Church street on the west, and Clay on the east.

Director Pine said that the interior study would only be a sampling of 20% of the area, because it "would be impossible to survey all the buildings in the area." He said that all different types of buildings in the area would be examined.

"This will be done with the cooperation of the tenants and property owners," he assured.

PRACTICAL NURSES TO FORM ALUMNI UNIT
Graduates of the Jacksonville School of Practical Nursing will meet at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday in the school's classroom to organize an alumni association. Members of the 1966 graduating class are urged to attend.

KILL 500 ANNUALLY
CHICAGO (AP)—The National Safety Council said Saturday more than 500 persons are killed in farm tractor accidents each year. It suggested that safeguards be built into such vehicles.

The council proposed specifically that tractors have protective frames and crush-resistant cabs — similar to "roll bars" in racing cars — to protect tractor operators when tractors roll over.

HORSLEY RENEWS EFFORTS TO BAR MINISTER OF POST

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Sen. G. William Horsley, R-Springfield, has renewed his opposition to the appointment of a Springfield minister to the State Parole and Pardon Board.

Horsley said in a statement Friday he hoped thousands of persons would write their senators and express opposition to Gov. Otto Kerner's appointment of Dr. Richard Paul Graebel, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, to the board.

"This matter is so important we should receive at least 10,000 letters and telegrams," before the senate executive committee takes up the appointment Tuesday, Horsley said.

The senator said he opposes Graebel because he opposes capital punishment and advocates that "a Christian should obey only those laws which he agrees."

Horsley said Graebel also "brags about his membership in the American Civil Liberties Union," which he described as "an outfit which has carried all of the anti-religious school cases to the U.S. Supreme Court."

To Shave, Or Not To Shave?

Editor's Note — The relative merits of making the 100th anniversary of Jacksonville's incorporation as a city is under discussion in several corners of the community. Mayor Holtenbrink's letter arrived too late to appear on the editorial page of this edition. As a public service, we have reprinted Mr. Koch's letter as a reference which appeared on the editorial page of an earlier edition.

Relating to a communication in the Courier of February 3, 1967 and in the Journal of February 4, 1967 wherein the writer of the communication condemns the City Administration for considering the expenditure of $12,000 for sponsoring a Jacksonville Centennial Celebration.

This is neither factual nor true in any sense of the words.

The City of Jacksonville, as an incorporated City will be one hundred years old this year, as is attested by the Official Seal of the City of Jacksonville.

In view of this, a group of people who are interested in promoting the good qualities of Jacksonville met in the City Hall on January 24th and again on January 31st, 1967, to discuss the possibilities of a celebration.

EDITOR
Jacksonville Journal Courier
Jacksonville, Ill.
Dear Sir:

I have been reading the incredible accounts of the current attempts to organize a second Centennial for Jacksonville. The financial plight of this fair city has been much with us in the past few years and it seems impossible that the City Administration would consider an expenditure of $12,000 for a second celebration of an event that has been celebrated in 1925.

The city is unable to provide recreational facilities for its citizens, unable to provide even minimum snow removal, unable to provide electric service with new equipment bought for the purpose and even unable to provide a file cabinet for the Citizen's Advisory Committee and yet by some magical analysis of incorporation laws we can afford a second Centennial. From the point of view of a taxpayer citizen and reluctant sewer user this certainly seems as if the city has taken leave of its government responsibilities and has become enamored with the carnival spirit that was proper 31 years ago. It would be far more fitting to have citizen subscriptions for projects that would benefit the community rather than to expose us to the ridicule of every single person who celebrated our Centennial in 1925.

Sincerely,
Luanne Koch

House Republicans Face Bill To Give Cook Financial Aid

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Illinois House Republican majority leaders plan to pass this week bills giving financial aid to Cook County, while Chicago and down-state mayors still ask aid for cities.

Although the House hasn't set a date to hear opponents to city sales and other tax proposals, the Senate Republican majority leader said Saturday persons for and against the bills would be heard by the Senate by mid-March.

This means the city tax program won't be considered until near the time Gov. Otto Kerner proposes his budget, expected to hit about $5.5 billion.

An old approach to raising funds for the state by a lottery will be renewed this week by Chicago Democratic legislators.

Meanwhile, Kerner will resume Wednesday his bipartisan talks with legislative leaders on expansion of state higher education — which is expected to raise the cost to $1 billion, or about a fifth of the budget total.

The Senate, which speeds up Monday by starting to work three days a week, is expected to pass to the House bills tightening restrictions on drunk drivers. The bills state that driving implies consent to testing of alcoholic content of blood.

The House remains on its schedule of two work days a week, resuming Tuesday.

Sen. W. Russell Arrington, R-Evanston, Senate majority leader, said after a conference with Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago Saturday that state needs for tax revenue must be considered along with city needs.

Double Sales Tax
Daley hopes for about $50 million for Chicago from doubling the half-cent city sales tax, and other levies.

Unofficial estimates put the state's needs for new revenues at about $500 million more for 1967-68.

A half cent increase in the 3½-cent state sales tax would produce about $200 million more in a biennium.

However, speculation is in the air that Kerner may seek to broaden the base of the state funds for the state by a lottery and to increase the rate.

The broadening probably would mean applying the tax to services, such as those of lawyers, barbers or medical personnel.

No estimates are available as to how much this broadening would increase present sales tax revenue, including the return from the half cent tax of cities and counties.

Kerner has not told legislators this session how he stands on tax aid to cities, but probably will — either in a special message or in connection with his budget announcement, probably around April 1.

Rep. John Fary, D-Chicago, told the House Wednesday

Editorial Comment

The U.S. Budget-Incomprehensible

For anyone but a statistician or an economist, making sense of the national budget seems a hopeless task.

Even the professionals can become confused in trying to keep the cash budget separate from the administrative budget, both of which are distinct from something called the national income accounts budget — and all of which are so qualified by a long list of ifs and buts involving the whims of the economy and the will of Congress that a miscalculation here or misplaced optimism there can make a difference on the order of billions of dollars between what is projected for a particular fiscal year and what the final bookkeeping entry shows.

To the average person, anything that is expressed in terms of billions or tens of billions of dollars is about as removed from his everyday experience as the mathematicians' square root of minus one.

It is a little difficult to believe that the vast bulk of all these billions—$135 billion, to be exact, which the President is asking for the 1968 fiscal year beginning July 1 — is merely the sum of the tens and hundreds and thousands of dollars kicked in by the ordinary taxpayer.

One item in the budget looms out startlingly. For the war in Vietnam, a war never officially declared, the President is asking $22.4 billion.

This translates into $700 for each of the 32 million men, women and children in both North and South Vietnam. It comes on top of the nearly $25 billion — or nearly $800 per Vietnamese — that will have been spent from the beginning of American aid until the end of fiscal 1967.

Yet even this sum earmarked for Vietnam represents less than a third of the total — $73.1 billion — asked for national defense.

By contrast, the President's request for $11 billion for Great Society programs (over and above $14.6 billion in Social Security and Medicare payments) breaks down to about $355 for each of the 31 million Americans said to be living in poverty.

So vast is the American economy, however, that compared to it even the imagination-staggering federal budget begins to appear manageable. The Gross National Product for 1965 — the total worth of goods and services produced by the nation that year — was more than $681 billion. It is currently edging up towards three-quarters of a trillion dollars.

We speak of guns and butter. But few of us comprehend just how many guns, or how much butter, we are talking about.

Musial In A New Job

Baseball fans were generally pleased to learn that Stan Musial, one of the game's brightest stars and most admired players, had been named general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals. Stan the Man started with the Cardinals in 1941 and retired as a player in 1963. He will be welcomed in this new phase of his career.

Musial's lifetime batting average was .331, and he hit 475 home runs. He was an inspiration to his teammates, easy to manage and a great favorite in St. Louis and everywhere in the National League.

He started out as a pitcher and probably would have been a good one, but he suffered an arm injury and converted to an outfielder and first baseman. This seeming misfortune proved to be good fortune. Had he remained a pitcher he probably would not have set 16 major records, nor been active for 22 seasons. In any case, it is good to have him back in an active role.

Dems Fret: How To Hold Power

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Something Democrats fear their party soon may lose enough important ground to Republicans to endanger their nearly four years of majority ascendancy.
Some one.

"While people in this party gossip over what William Kennedy's book says about Kennedy-Johnson relations, or try to count how many times Bob Kennedy applauded the President's State of the Union message, big voter trends may be working against us."

A strong feeling is developing that the Democratic party's rapport with the growing numbers of young Americans is woefully
bad. Time was when the young reaching 21 were an automatic two-out-of-three Democratic vote statistic.

A respected Democratic leader argues from close first-hand observation, that today most young Americans at or approaching voting age do not feel any strong identity with the Democrats.

"They are hanging loose," he says. "They are wider aspect is feared to be the watching and waiting. Many revolt of middle-class taxpayers may turn out to be quite conservative. A good number seem to like Bobby Kennedy, but they aren't all out for him right now."

Some Democrats concede that formal Democratic youth organizations are far less effective as working political entities than are their GOP counterparts, holding on the higher rungs of social life.

They see as enterprising efforts by Republican National Chairman Ray Bliss to woo the young — and bend their groups
away from "kookery."

man:

"If there is a political revolution under way, this uncertainty among young people over the their political attachments may Democrats may not forfeit the support and sympathy of the broad band of middle-class

voters."

The conviction is deep in some party quarters that the long-range Democratic future hangs on what the party can do to woo the young and the enlarging middle class — and not at all on the latest backstage gossip over Lyndon Johnson and Bobby Kennedy.

The argument is that the sharply rising numbers of people in the U.S. middle class may be slowly forming a new majority whose fundamental interests are quite different from those of the loose coalition of impoverished or half-impoverished minorities which have kept the Democrats on top most of the time since the early 1930s.

Ironically, it is from some of the national minorities, that some of the loudest complaints are heard today about
"doing too much too fast" in Great Society and other programming.

Anti-Negro backlash sentiment obviously plays a measurable role in this reaction, but it is far from the whole story. The wider aspect is feared to be the watching and waiting. Many revolt of middle-class taxpayers may turn out to be quite conservative. A good number seem to like Bobby Kennedy,
but they aren't all out for him

It is a surprising, though understandable, edict which came from the Vatican, banning certain forms of music, especially that which is known as the "jazz mass." Surprising, because we have just become accustomed to the most revolutionary liturgical reforms. Understandable because jazz is noisy, discordant and strange to the uninitiated. In addition, it is more of a solo or concert form of music, in contrast to that expression which lends itself to congregational participation.

Nonetheless, there was a syncretized phrase in the edict, it referred to "music of a totally profane and worldly character." Yet the whole point of the Christian faith is that God is speaking in human flesh. It is the religion of the Incarnation. It is the invasion of that which men called the profane and the worldly, clothing it with new meaning.

As a result, some of our greatest chorales and hymns came into the church by way of taverns and public gatherings which were profane. The tunes of the people at play became also the tunes of the people at worship. Then, just as in the Old Testament, cymbals, tymbrals, dulcimers, bagpipes and flutes became the gladsome praise of the Lord.

Sidney Lanier said that "Music is love in search of a word." Some of it doesn't sound that way to my ears. Yet are we to dimension this desire to speak to the contemporary man who finds in this discordant statement that which witnesses more than the Gregorian chant or a Bach chorale sings to my ears?

Staid Westerners are accustomed to sitting in pews and being quiet observers; the Orthodox in Greece and Russia enjoy motion, with people walking about, kissing icons, participating instead of observing. What is disturbing to a Westerner is normal to another; what would be understandable in one situation would become dull conformity in another. The joyous "beat" of some congregations may be strange to the unaccustomed but the lack of an exultant "Hallelujah" or an echoing "Amen" would make it a dull experience to others.

Obviously it is proper for any church to determine the norm of its forms of worship. Yet we must also know that the Gospel must be communicated in this profane and worldly situation which we know as our environment. Into this world, the Word is shared. It might just be the profane and worldly music could be the swaddling clothes!

Ann Landers:

Faked Enthusiasm Wasted On Drag Nut

By ANN LANDERS
Dear Ann Landers: I am writing about the most useless bit of advice any counselor ever handed out. Please, Ann, put an end to the phony idea that the way to get along with a fellow is to learn about his special interests and participate with him. I fell for this appallance and it just about wrecked me.

I started to go with Jack. He was nutty over drag racing. I decided to learn all I could about drag racing so I could be part of his life. I spent hundreds of boring hours watching drag races. I met dozens of girls who were also bored, but they were there for the same reason — to please a boy friend.

I went to one drag party after another and watched a bunch of creeps make fools of themselves. Finally I decided to stop knocking myself out for the jerk. Now I'm going with a fine fellow whose interests are more like mine — which is the way it ought to be. We enjoy music and art and hiking and just talking. When I think of the time and energy I wasted on the drag nut I could kick myself from here to China. —ASHAMED TO SIGN

Please don't tell me he needs love because all his life he has received so much attention that he is spoiled rotten. My parents dote on him and he manages to get his own way and win every argument.

I have tried to tell Brother he'd better shape up or his life will be ruined. He says, "Take care of your own life and don't nag me."

What can I do? —WORRIED SWEET SIXTEEN

Dear Worried Sixteen: The only thing you can do is urge your parents to see that Brother gets professional help. He is a goner unless somebody gets in there and fast. Overeating, stealing and flunking are all symptoms of your brother's illness.

Your letter indicates that you don't know the difference between love and letting a kid have his own way all the time. Caving in to a child's demands is not "love." It's the easy way to buy peace and quiet.

The Mature Parent

It's More Blessed to Give Only if It's Appreciated

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
The stingiest person I ever knew was a woman whose parents had left her lots of money. However, they had arranged things so that she couldn't spend it. They did this, not by putting legal restrictions on her income but by putting psychological ones on her. Members of a rigidly self-righteous religious sect, they'd made her feel herself to be such a worthless, disappointing creature that she just could not imagine your appreciating anything she produced — a lunch, a gift, a taxi fare. So she was an inveterate taker. You couldn't show her a new pair of earrings without knowing that she was waiting for you to give them to her. When you DID give them to her, she would put them on, admire herself in the nearest mirror — and only when her taker acquisitive-ness had been thoroughly reassured, give you the most casual "Thank you."

You stopped giving her things, but you could not resent her. You knew that her shrunken view of her worth explained her ingratitude as well as her stinginess. Some of this may be relevant to the problem raised by a Mrs. G. who writes:

"For 15 years I have been sending my brother's son birthday and Christmas gifts we really cannot afford. He never acknowledges them, and the Christmas gifts his mother sends to our two youngsters have never been worth opening. Usually they are either dime-store toys or a handkerchief. It's not my brother who is stingy but his wife. He earns a good income. Is it small of me to resent her cheap treatment of my children?"

Myself, I wouldn't be crazy about it. Whether it's "small" or "big" of me, I stop giving to people who can't give back in appreciation of my giving.

I don't resent them but I quit the giving.

When I am tempted to continue giving to someone who can't use it to prime his own wells of water, I remember that parable of Jesus about the "sowers" who went forth to sow, some in stony places, some in thorny places and some in places which brought forth "fruit." A parable which he incidentally ended by saying, "Who hath ears to hear, let him hear."

I did my hearing a long time ago. And so a long time ago I learned that I want harvest from my giving.

Coffee Still Top Drink

Q—Isn't it true that Americans are heavy coffee drinkers but use very little tea?

A—Are we still a nation of coffee drinkers? Yes, but we aren't drinking quite so much coffee as in the past. And tea seems to be gaining in the public favor. U.S. civilians consumed the equivalent of about 18 pounds of coffee per capita in 1947-49; less than 15 pounds last year. Even so, coffee has a wide, wide margin of popularity over tea. Last year we averaged the equivalent of two-thirds of a pound of tea, about 1 1/2 ounces more than in 1947-49.

India Faces Famine Perennially; Hope Now In Young People

By WILLIAM W. ALLEN

NEW DELHI, India—India is a country with more food problems than food. The story has been the same for thousands of years but an end to the food shortage and famine that has characterized India is in sight but not this year.

The story is a complex one involving the fact that most Indians are Hindus and vegetarians and when cereal grain production fails to meet the demand, people go hungry or, worse, they starve to death. This year, following two successive years of drought, some 75 million people in India face the grim prospect of too little food but even with this gloomy picture, the future looks brighter, according to the Indians. Even the possibilities of agricultural trade with the United States, for dollars, isn't completely out of the question.

That was the story as members of the Illinois Agricultural association trade and production mission heard it here. The Farm Bureau group, circling the world in search of new market possibilities for Illinois agricultural production, saw the outstanding work being done at the India Agricultural Research Institute. They heard Dr. Rajendar Prasad, an IARI agronomist, predict that India can become virtually self-sufficient in grain production in the next five years barring further drought.

Although India is many years and many research projects away from becoming a prosperous nation, it is beginning to lick some of its food problems. Much of the work being done here is through the largest Agency for International Development project sponsored by the United States. Nearly a half-billion dollars will be spent here this year, much of it designed to help India solve its own food problems. In addition, both the Rockefeller and Ford Foundations are hard at work—the Rockefeller group doing research and the Ford Foundation people doing extension projects on a pilot basis.

Others Must Help

But even though the five-year future may look brighter, the immediate prospects are somewhat gloomy. While the Farm Bureau mission was in India, President Johnson's statement that the United States wouldn't try to cope with India's food problems single-handedly, hit the newspapers here.

The American President was reported in New Delhi as saying that the other free nations of the world would have to provide India with fertilizer or seed or money to buy them if the United States were to provide thousands or millions of tons of American wheat. The Indian press simply reported the story with very little comment.

Accentuating the Indian food problem is the birthrate which has seen India's population increase nearly 100 million people in the last ten years. Not only are there more Indians to feed then ever before but those Indians whose standard of living is creeping upward from the subsistence level, want to eat better. Even though red meat is forbidden the practicing Hindu in this Hindu nation, chicken has become an important commodity. As the Indians become ever so slightly better off, they improve their diet from the rice and bread which is basic here.

Experiments are being carried on to raise soybeans in India with rather insignificant success so far. Soybeans are used for oil and meal and for human food.

Hope In Youth

The key to India's agricultural marketing picture may well be the new generation—those who are 21 years old and less. These youngsters, the largest group, agewise in India, are showing signs of dissatisfaction with the age-old ways of their fathers. A few of them are beginning to leave the farms and move to the cities. Some young people from Hindu families admit candidly that they eat red meat.

Even though the work at the experimental stations and in the research centers is almost exemplary, the difficulty of moving the new farm practices into use on India's plagues extension workers.

Too Much Government

First of all, the Indians lived more than 200 years under British control. One authoritative American working in Indian agriculture, says that a system of red tape was used by the British to retain control of the country. That system adopted by the Indians when they became an independent nation 20 years ago, has bogged down many agricultural projects.

Often the new machinery which is trickling into the farm country becomes useless for want of a key part. And a replacement part is never found except at the end of a piece of that governmental red tape.

Secondly, the new farm practices developed at the research centers, require capital and Indian farmers who are barely beyond the stage of grubbing out an existence have no spare capital. Dr. Prasad said that the lack of credit facilities and capital sources was India's biggest agricultural problem not counting the drought.

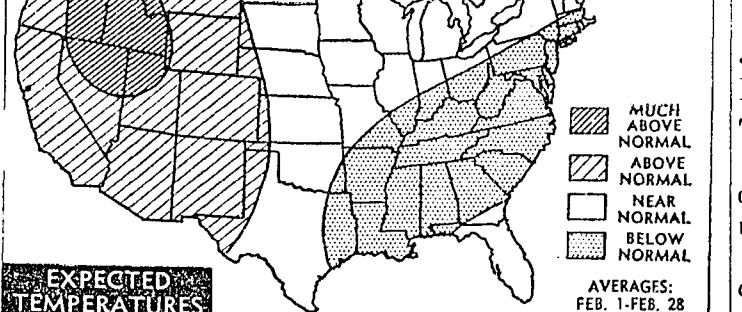

Some Improvement Seen

For many years India's extension workers found that the farmer who witnessed new practices on test plots would not use them on his home farm but that old stumbling block is disappearing rapidly and would disappear completely if the Indian farmers could afford the fertilizers and seed which only money can buy.

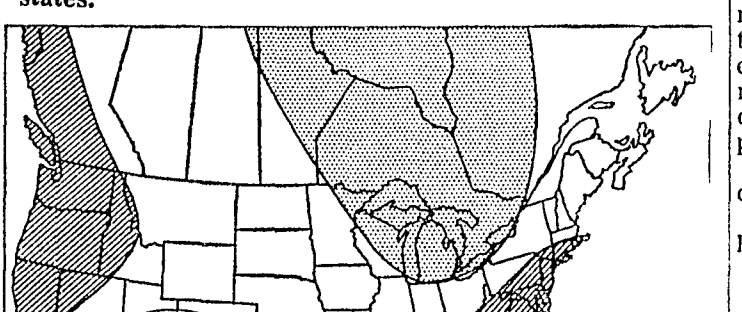

As a potential market for Illinois farm production India holds little immediate prospect, but as the country improves, as it develops a system of government equal to its crushing problem, and as the standard of living inches upward, India will one day need the feed and the livestock best produced in the United States and especially, in Illinois.

Frisky February

Maps show Weather Bureau's estimated forecasts of average temperature, precipitation through Feb. 28.

The temperature outlook is for an east-west split, with lower than usual readings prevailing in the East and Southeast, and above in the Pacific Coast and Mountain states.

A spotty precipitation pattern is expected to prevail, heavier than usual in the Northwest and Southeast and drier than normal for the Southwest and Upper Great Lakes.

BRIMFUL and running over

By Jim Brim

One of the things that gets a lot of attention at this time of the year is new machinery. It takes the spotlight in the farm magazines and is the focal point of attention for many farmers who spent time at their machinery dealers' showrooms during some of the winter days.

How machinery companies can keep coming out with new and better implements, year after year, is one of the marvels of agriculture. Yet they do. They keep making it possible for a farmer to produce more and do it faster, with more precision and more comfort. They keep getting more out of a man, an hour, and a gallon of fuel, while making it easier on the man at the same time.

Yes, we have to take off our hats to the designers and engineers. They do an ingenious job. Now you should...

... Watch high school basketball.

... Eat popcorn.

... Keep livestock beds clean and dry.

... Check hogs and cattle for external parasites.

... Dream about Florida.

... Drive with extreme caution.

... Play in the snow.

... Get ready for Valentine day.

... Clean the attic.

... Watch for a change in the weather.

If you want something different for a vacation consider the World's Fair which will be held in Montreal, Quebec, Canada. The Canadians are calling it Expo 67 and say it has something for everyone. Much could be seen on a trip of this kind. There is a great variety of terrain, people and things between here and there.

Even if your credit rating is not good you can still borrow trouble.

It's time to figure your fertilizer needs. Determine the yields you hope to obtain. Then talk to a reputable, dependable fertilizer dealer and have him help you determine what you will need to get those yields. Remember, though, that it takes more than just fertilizer to get good, consistent yields.

Nicest thing about an egotist — he never goes around talking about other people.

Cass And Morgan Farm Bureaus Seek Members

Darrell Tegered, president of the Cass County Farm Bureau, presided Friday noon at the beginning of a Morgan-Cass membership "kick-off" luncheon held at the Blackhawk restaurant Friday.

Seventy farmers, leaders in Farm Bureau, were present.

The speaker was Emmett Keim of Bloomington, long an employee of the Illinois Agricultural association and now director of the records department.

The goal of the campaign, as outlined by Bob Hens, executive organization director of Cass Farm Bureau, and John Chambers, who holds the same post in Morgan county, is two new members per township.

There are 11 townships in Cass county and 18 in Morgan. Cass Farm Bureau now has a membership of 775; Morgan, 1,833.

"Our chances of picking up two new members per township are pretty slim," Chambers said Friday. "But that is what we thought last year, and we came very close to our goal."

The report meeting will be held at the Ranch House Thursday evening, Feb. 9, with Cary Strang, Morgan County Farm Bureau president, in charge.

Ice-Damaged Trees Need Special Care

As soon as the ice melts you can begin repairing trees damaged by the recent ice storm.

University of Illinois foresters Lawson Oliver and T. W. Cortin urge tree owners to remove potentially dangerous branches as soon as possible. But the other repairs can be made any time before the growing season starts.

Many small trees will straighten by themselves. But it may be wise to stake trees planted within the last two or three years.

The foresters agree that a lot of pruning needs to be done. They suggest removing broken branches and cutting the stub back to the first lateral branch. Make the cut at an angle rather than straight through. This speeds healing.

To avoid stripping the bark down the tree trunk, they suggest the following procedure:

—Make a cut on the underside of the branch—about 1.5 through.

—Make a cut clear through the branch—from the top—about four inches past the lower cut.

—When the branch is removed, cut the stub back to the trunk or lateral branch. Be certain to cover all fresh cuts with a tree wound dressing.

Several types of dressings are available at seed and insecticide supply stores or at your local nursery.

Split trees and trees severely injured by ice may not be worth saving. Decide what the tree is worth to you and how it will look after repairs have been made. Don't try to be a tree surgeon. If an older tree is worth saving, it may be both safer and wiser to have a professional do the work.

The U. of I. foresters add that many home owners select trees that will grow fast and produce shade—such as Lombardy poplar, Chinese elms and silver maple. These fast-growing varieties are the most easily damaged trees.

If you are planning to make tree plantings this spring, you may decide to select slower growing varieties that are better able to stand ice damage.

"Pruning Shade Trees and Rejuvenating Their Injuries," USDA Home and Garden Bulletin No. 33, outlines the way to repair ice-damaged trees.

The bulletin is available by writing Department of Forestry, 219 Mumford Hall, University of Illinois, Urbana 61801.

Prayer Poem

Still Shining On

By Mary Pence Claywell

Brightest Star . . . up in the sky,
Shining there, serene and high;
Sure, God put you there for Light.
And to make the night - time
bright:
Too, we know you are a Sign
Of The Saviour's Birth, Divine.
And although the Season's past,
Still your lovely Glory lasts:
Many, Lord, I'm sure, like me,
Every morning, look to see
If the Brightest Star is lit.
Or . . . if clouds are covering it;
Sentimentalist . . . quite true:
But the first thing, Lord, I do,
When I rise before the dawn Breaks the darkness of the morn.
Is to draw the curtains, far,
Just to gaze . . . upon The Star:
Seems I see Your Lovely Face,
Looking down . . . from outer
space:
And then, I seem to see, so
plain,
Many faces . . . pressed to panes:
And in places . . . far away . . .
Long before the break of day,
In the Battle Zones, where cries
Pierce the shell-streaked, torn skies . . .
I vision Youth . . . in lands
afar,
Looking up . . . to glimpse The Star:
Thank you, Lord . . . the tinsel's gone,
For The Star . . . still shining
on,
And a vision . . . of Your Face,
Smiling down . . . from outer
space!

My grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Don Mortimer, Jacksonville; and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Cook, Carrollton."

SADIE HAWKIN'S VALENTINE DANCE

By Christine Hembrough

This party is one of the easiest! All you have to do is provide a place to have the party and the refreshments and music. (Records are O.K. for your music if you can't get it live.)

Decorate your party room in red and white crepe paper, and cute little valentines. You can set up red and white signs pointing to coat area, refreshments, and rest rooms using cute sayings like "Possum Holer" and such.

You can use square dance music for the background music. If you prefer pop music be careful about selecting the music. Brokenheart and lonely songs don't belong at valentine parties so be careful to choose love songs only.

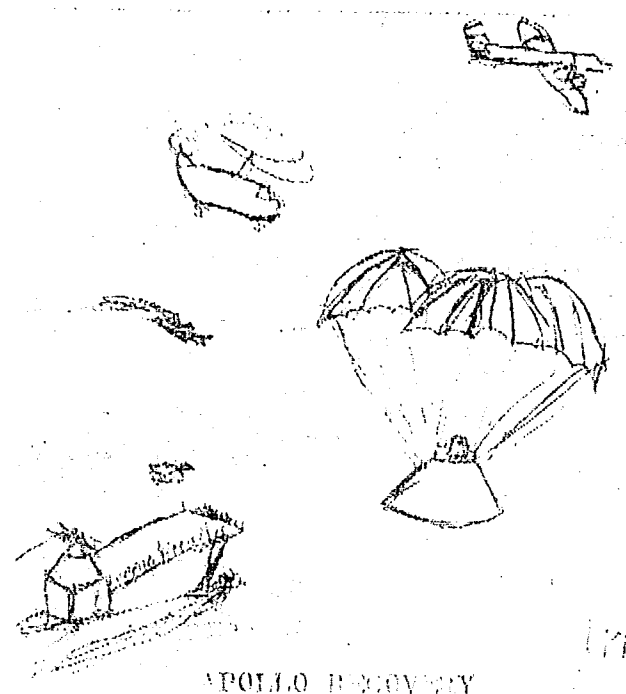

If you have room when all of your guests arrive, you can have the race. (Girls go after the guys.) If you don't have any room you can do it by a blind man bluff method. Whoever the girl gets he is her date for the party and she shares her lunch with him.

Love Cake
To make a love cake you will need one cake mix per layer, enough white icing (two boxes should do), and red candies. You will also need either two heart shaped cake pans or one square and round cake pan per layer. After you have baked them according to directions and let them cool; set the square layer on the table in a diamond shape position. Cut the round layer in half and place one-half on each top side of the diamond and there you have a love cake. Ice it with white icing. Then you can arrange the candies in the shape of small hearts all over or shape - write "I love you."

Home Form The Moon

By WALTER B. HENDRICKSON JR.

Except for its 25,000 mile per hour speed at the beginning of the return of an Apollo spacecraft from the moon will be much like that of any other manned spacecraft. Until it floats down to the Pacific under its three parachutes as shown above.

Unlike the earlier manned flights, the astronauts will not step out on the carrier deck for a red-carpet reception. Instead, they will be lifted aboard in their spacecraft. They will then be immediately sealed in a giant plastic "baggie" to prevent any germs from the moon contaminating earth.

This plastic cocoon will contain a chamber in which the astronauts can move about and stretch their legs. It will also have radio and television transmitters so that they can reassure an anxious world of their safety. Two doctors and a technician will enter the isolation chamber through an air lock to examine the astronauts and their spacecraft.

In Quarantine

The six men and the spacecraft will be flown to the Lunar Receiving Laboratory (LRL) at Houston, for a thirty - day quarantine period required by the Public Health Service. The men will spend this time processing the films and tapes the astronauts made on the voyage. The 22,000 foot square LRL will provide plenty of facilities for these tests and for more detailed medical examinations of the astronauts.

The samples of the moon will be unloaded from the Apollo and their sealed containers opened by remote control in a vacuum much like they had on the moon. Only the tests that must be performed on the samples immediately will be done during the thirty-day quarantine period.

After the thirty-day period is over the samples will be released for more extensive study and the astronauts will be reunited with their families and given a heroes' welcome.

Let's Go Birding

Winter Finches

By Emma Mae Leonhard

Thus far we had had an open winter; that is, snow had not bound the routine of business and society. Snow had intermittently scurried before the whip lashes of the cold wind, and the sluggish streams and lake margins were frozen; but we hadn't been compelled to scoop snow, battle snowdrifts, and drape the car tires with rattling chains. We felt kindly treated by Mr. Winter.

On the other hand, the wheat fields needed a warm blanket of snow. True, white frost covered the barren meadows and gaunt hills each morning; but the lazy winter sun always dissipated it, and the fields shivered again in the cold. The merciless wind lashed the recently ploughed sandy fields, whipped up the loose soil, and carried it in great whirling drifts to other areas. The heartless wind made some fields richer by robbing other helpless ones. Winter had not been so kind to fields and meadows.

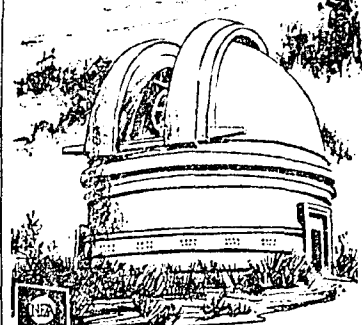

Birds, too, faced critical problems; they must have water as well as food. The fields and trees, rich in seeds and dried fruits, provided the birds necessary food; but the favorite drinking fountains and bathing pools had become cascades of ice. What were the birds to do?

The sixteen Red Crossbills solved the problem. They had filled themselves full of seeds from the rich cones on the pine trees. We had watched these colorful birds clambering about in the green branches and clinging to the shining brown cones, extracting the conifer seeds with their pruning-shear crossed bills. We had heard the cracking of the brittle cones; it was a dry sound.

Then these sixteen crossbills moved to the top of the pines and soon flew over us and on toward the clump of bare trees at our left. We lost sight of them but could still hear their throaty "pip-pip-pip" calls, which seemed to say, "How dry we are!", and we sympathized with them.

Our sympathy proved to be a careless and ignorant reaction. As we turned our car around to seek another birding spot, we saw Red Crossbills sitting on the fence at the edge of the clump of trees. At the foot of the fence ran a weedy grass embankment on which a ridge of snow rested. Here sat a brick-red crossbill "drinking" the snow. Others joined it. Soon the sixteen Red Crossbills were perched in the top of a leafless tree, buffeted by the icy wind. There they rested like great polished beads; they were neither hungry nor thirsty. Then we understood why they were called Winter Finches.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The world's largest telescope is located on Mt. Palomar, Calif. It has a 200-inch reflector. A telescope reflector is a concave mirror, usually made of Pyrex and coated with either silver or aluminum. According to The World Almanac, light rays hit the reflector and are then directed to the upper end of the telescope where they are magnified and observed through an eye-piece.

FLOATING FLOWERS, designed by Tokyo born Setsu Watanabe is just the type of fragile evening wear which could help bring back romantic social dancing. Made of blue, green, gold floral printed nylon and metal dooby crepe, the dress is one of a collection of late day and evening styles presented by the Gumma Textile Trade Fair Committee of Kiryu and Iseaki cities, Japan, during an exhibit at the New Yorker Hotel in New York City.

Rabbi Says Golf Even Religious On Weekdays

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Golfers take note: Rabbi Israel Gerber of Charlotte says golf is a religious game.

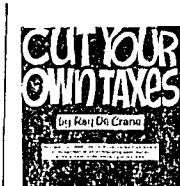

Writing in a recent issue of Temple Beth El's newsletter, Rabbi Gerber had this to say: "Golf isn't religious simply because it is often played on Sunday mornings, or even because of the sacrifices people make for it and the single-minded devotion with which they regard it.

"It is religious because the basic idea of the game is a spiritually sublime one. In golf, as in any other game, the object is to win. But in golf, the object is to win by the most honest, more sensitive, tomorrow than I was yesterday."

"2. Status golf: In which nobody will worry about keeping up with the Joneses, but people at all times will ask 'What is my real level? What is right for me?' — never satisfied to be less than they might be, never long to be more than they have the capacity to be.

"3. Synagogue golf: In which people will rush up to the local pro (rabbi) and ask him urgently, 'Please tell me, what little thing am I doing wrong, so that I may correct it'—then rush out to put into practice the advice he gives them.

"People who are capable of such saintliness on the golf course should have no trouble

Some Income Areas Excluded From Taxes

By RAY DE CRANE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. A dividend received on your life insurance policy is not taxable on your annual income tax return. A cash dividend received on stock you own is taxable.

Contradictory? Not necessarily. But it does indicate the confusion that exists and the need for an understanding of taxable and nontaxable income.

The insurance dividend is not taxable because it is a partial return of your premium payment. The dividend on stock is taxable because it is money earned on your investment.

In general, all funds you receive in the course of a year must be reported on your income tax return unless such funds are specifically exempt from tax by law. Income from some sources is fully taxable, from others partially taxable, and from a third source completely exempt.

This income is TAXABLE:

Periodic alimony and certain separation payments; awards; prizes, back pay; bonuses; business net income; commissions on sales; director's fees; gain from the sale of property; gambling net winnings; interest received from such sources as savings accounts, life insurance dividends left on deposit, notes, mortgages, land contracts, corporate bonds and savings bonds; jury duty fees; notary fees; income from partnerships; rental net income; salary and wages; severance pay; supplementary unemployment benefits and tips.

This income is NONTAXABLE:

Accident and health insurance proceeds; bequests; casualty insurance proceeds; disability and death benefits; gifts and inheritances; interest on tax-free securities; life insurance proceeds paid on the death of the insured; military allowances; mustering-out pay; payments to dependents of military personnel; Railroad Retirement Act pensions; rental or housing allowance furnished a clergyman; scholarship and fellowship grants; unemployment compensation paid by states; veterans' bonuses and workmen's compensation benefits.

Income from these sources is partially taxable subject to specific rules and handling: Annuities; dividends on stock; gain on the sale of a residence if you are 65 or older; pensions and sick pay. Proper accounting of these partially taxable items will be explained in later chapters.

(NEXT: How to handle rental income.)

BARBER'S POINT, Hawaii—Seaman Apprentice Patrick M. Ryan USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Carroll Ryan of 611 S. Dia-

Barber's Point is located 25 miles from Honolulu near the point named for a British Naval Captain, Henry Barber, master of the brig Arthur, which ran aground and was wrecked during a violent tropical storm in 1796.

With today's hand we take leave of the 1966 American team trials, concluding with the silliest hand of the event.

At four of the five tables South opened with a preemptive bid of three hearts. West could not find a bid and East would have liked to double but there was no hope that his partner would leave the double in.

There was little to the play. West would open the jack of clubs. East would win and cash his ace of trumps. Eventually the defense would wind up with three clubs, one spade, one diamond and four trumps. South would be down five for minus 250 but he would be happy about the whole thing.

East and West can make game in no-trump, spades or clubs. They can actually make six clubs by playing exactly one round of trumps but that sort of play is likely only if you are playing with all hands exposed.

As we said, North and South were happy until the results came in. At the one table where South failed to preempt North opened with three diamonds.

This three diamond opening was East's cup of tea. He had a fine take-out double and proceeded to make it.

West liked his hand and made a forcing bid of four diamonds. East bid four hearts and West went to five clubs. East really should have passed but he felt sure that his partner held four spades. Otherwise West would just have bid five clubs directly over the double. So East went to five spades.

Five spades was a reasonable contract but there was no way that East could handle North's four spades and he had to go down one trick.

Thus we had four North-South pairs at minus 250 and one at plus 100 so that minus 250 was a two IMP loss instead of a gain.

What do you do now?

A—Bid four hearts. This tells your partner that your heart suit is self-sufficient but that you aren't interested in a slam unless he has something outside the diamond suit.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Your partner continues with a bid of four spades. What do you do now?

30 Million Angry Young People Claw Through Communist China

EDITOR'S NOTE - The following copyright story was written by Bill Baggs, editor of the Miami (Fla.) News, during a visit earlier this month to North Vietnam and Hong Kong. Baggs was accompanied on his trip to North Vietnam by Harry Ashmore, chairman of the executive committee of the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, and by former Ambassador Luis Quintanilla of Mexico.

HONG KONG (Delayed)-(AP) - Across the harbor, and beyond the hills of Kowloon, more than 30,000,000 angry young people are clawing through China. These are the Red Guards, and they are something new and frightening in the history of revolution.

Hong Kong is the aviary where the "China-watchers" perch, and the uniform opinion of these watchers, from various countries, who talked to this reporter, is that the Red Guards really belong to no bloc or no party in Peking.

Of course, now they march on the side of Mao Tse-tung, and they humiliate and bully any person suspected of not being a thorough Maoist. However, the views you hear in Hong Kong, and in other countries of Southeast Asia, is that the Red Guards are quite capable of even turning on Mao one of these days.

It appears that a common opinion about these guards in the United States is wrong. Mao did not invent them. In the persistent violence which has characterized China for almost 20 years of strange Marxism, the guards grew out of dissonant young people, especially those in the universities, who thought they perceived too much liberalism and tolerance among their professors, certain writers and newspaper people.

This suspicion led to organization, and Mao blessed the young protesters as a kind of "dry cleaning" of the revolution.

What happened, however, was that the Red Guards got out of hand.

Indeed, they became so violent and so independent that Mao had to close the universities for six months. Feeding on its own nature, the Red Guards began to take over large sections of cities. They seized radio stations. They questioned the loyalty, in papers and in direct confrontations, of very influential persons.

Meanwhile, the struggle in Peking between at least two factions, ambitious to succeed old Mao, was becoming vicious.

President Liu Shao-chi was suspected of being the leader of the anti-Maoist elements, and, for instance, today his own children are condemning him in public remarks and printed quotations in the press. Persons loyal to Liu, in political offices out in the provinces and in Peking, are said to be under immediate threat of purge.

THE LITTLE MINK has become a fashion that is not only good for spring but can be used nearly all year round. New this season is the cabochon cape (left) in Jasmine, Emba natural white mink by Harry & Dan Grossman. The full back and softly shirred top convey beauty and elegance. Estevez has fashioned Autumn Haze, Emba natural brown mink and ranch mink into a new exciting look (right) for Radley Furs. This dramatic cape has tiny hidden pockets and a ring collar.

Once Upon A Time

Papa Bear, Mama Bear and Baby Bear may never have gone to college—but one MacMurray College student, one faculty member, and three alumni have studied them. Between the lines of the well-known children's story a new adventure is taking form—one of educational entertainment for deaf children.

Dr. Frank B. Withrow, director of research and clinical services at the Illinois School for the Deaf, is the project director. In addition to editing and supervising the filming, he originated the idea of animating a story of "The Three Bears" for use with young deaf children.

Miss Cindy Letto, a sophomore at MacMurray, along with Howard Sidman, head of the MacMurray Art Department, and MacMurray alumni Miss Sammy Carithers, formerly of Omaha, Nebraska; Mrs. Lois Jeanne Stacey Baker and William Russell, all of Jacksonville, were the local production staff for the films. The original script, music, and animation were done in the research department of the Illinois School for the Deaf.

Miss Letto, daughter of Mrs. Kathryn Letto, 1106 West State street, is the story-teller in the film. She spent two days this fall at the University of Nebraska in Lincoln reading for the film. The film narration was done in Lincoln as a cooperative venture with the Illinois School. Miss Carithers, illustrator for the Instructional Media Center at the Illinois School for the Deaf, under the supervision of Sidman, developed hundreds of sketches which ultimately made up the animation cells.

Russell, audio-visual director of School District #117, worked with Dr. Withrow in perfecting the audio-visual techniques of the filming. Mrs. Baker, special unit teacher at the Illinois School, composed the original score for the background music of the animation. A leader in the field of audio-visual aids for the deaf, Dr. Withrow explained, "This is a major program in the field. Sixty film centers have been established throughout the United States, including one at our school. Films are financed by Captioned Films for the Deaf, and can be secured at any of the film centers by any school, private, or public, which has formal instruction for deaf children."

"In our own project," he stated, "we have combinations of uses for the films." "The Three Bears" has educational overtones and will be available in five variations, according to Dr. Withrow.

1—Miss Letto tells the story with no animation or art-work. 2—A straight reading "story-telling" experience. 3—A film narration of the story with Miss Letto telling the story in between animated sequences.

4—A captioned version with animation, with the sound track synchronized with the printed word. 5—The captions and sound track without the animation so that it becomes a reading-listening experience, and 6—The story teller asks questions of the children about the characters in the story.

The Illinois School for the Deaf working in cooperation with the University of Nebraska, under a long-term project sponsored by Captioned Films for the Deaf, will have 75 programmed teaching films available for distribution in the Spring.

"The Three Bears" was made possible by the combined efforts of three Jacksonville agencies — public school district #117, the Illinois School for the Deaf, and MacMurray College.

College Tuition Fees Show Sharp Increase

By HAL COOPER
NEW YORK (AP) — The rising cost of higher education has led to steep increases in college tuition charges across America, a nationwide survey shows. In extreme cases, fees have more than doubled within five years. Some state schools have been driven recently to charging tuition for the first time.

In California, a row which developed when Gov. Ronald Reagan proposed tuition fees for resident students resulted in the ouster of Clark Kerr as president of the University of California. Kerr had opposed both tuition and Reagan's proposal to cut the university's budget.

Many educators have expressed fear that mounting student charges will deprive children of low income families of a chance to attend college.

Don Stevens, a member of the Michigan State University Board of Trustees, said: "Tuition is wrong in public education. It discriminates against low income families and against girls."

"If there are a boy and a girl in the same family, the boy gets the nod. The brightest kids from low-income families don't go to college," Stevens said.

Taking note of mounting educational costs, Gov. Kenneth M. Curtis of Maine had this comment in his inaugural address on Jan. 5:

"Our long-range objective must be free education beyond high school for every Maine boy and girl who has the desire and talent to use this education. We will not achieve this objective during my administration."

A student point of view was voiced by Dan Allison, a member of the University of Oregon Student Senate:

"We believe that higher education should be available to all who wish to take advantage of it, and raising tuition does not move in this direction."

A pending proposal to raise tuition fees in 22 state-supported colleges in Texas by a total of $44 million during the next two years was denounced by U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough as "a tax on students" and "an anti-education measure."

But almost everywhere, the fees go up and up.

In Illinois, the proposed budget for higher education in 1967-68 is $600 million, up 40 per cent from the preceding biennium, and some college administrations regard tuition increases as inevitable. The University of Illinois charges resident students $270 a year, nonresidents $870, compared with $230 and $580 in 1961.

Increasing costs have hit private schools just as hard as those supported by the states, and tuition charges have risen accordingly.

In 1961-62 the tuition at Harvard was $1,520. It is $1,760 this year and in September it goes up to $2,000.

Tuition at Yale is $1,950 compared with $1,550 five years ago, at Notre Dame $800 compared with $550, at Johns Hopkins $1,800, going up to $2,000 in September, compared with $1,450.

At Wellesley, a leading girls' school, tuition, room and board charges are lumped. The figure this year is $2,800 and in September it will be $3,100. Five years ago it was $2,500.

BEARDSTOWN JAYCEE NAME AWARD WINNERS

BEARDSTOWN — The Junior Chamber of Commerce has conferred its highest honors on two persons.

Tom Patterson, a CIPS employee, has been named the Outstanding Jaycee for the year; Glenn Herzberger, an insurance agent, has been named Citizen of the Year and Ernie Arenz, Don Sloan and Glenn Miller have received special awards.

Patterson has served as a Jaycee officer and in many other capacities since moving back "home" after working for the CIPS in Canton.

Herzberger, a lifelong resident of Cass county who lately completed a new home at Bluff Springs, was chosen because of his contribution to the welfare of his church and community. Awards were presented to all the winners at the 16th annual Founders Night banquet.

PIKE HISTORICAL GROUP TO HEAR FINDLEY FEB. 12

PITTSFIELD — Congressman Paul Findley will be guest speaker at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 12 at a joint meeting of the Pike County Historical Society of Illinois and its neighbor, the Pike County Historical Society of Missouri. The public is cordially invited to attend the meeting to be held in the Congregational Church of Pittsfield, and to the reception to be held in the church parlors after the meeting.

Since the meeting is on Lincoln's birthday and Congressman Findley is well versed in Lincoln lore, it is assumed he will touch on the subject of Lincoln in his address, although his topic has not as yet been announced.

CASS BROTHERS STILL MAKE MUSIC THROUGH MIDWEST

BEARDSTOWN—Two Beardstown brothers continue to make musical history.

Bert Phelps, 45, of Quincy, a pianist and organist of great talent, has been in demand throughout the Quincy area where he has the reputation of being "the best in the business."

Conrad (Connie) Phelps, Bert's brother, who is 42, is playing the night club circuit throughout the midwest with his wife. Connie is an accordionist and his wife plays the violin. Both play other instruments as well, and are also vocalists.

The Phelps duo is now filling an engagement in Grand Island, Nebraska. Their last date was for three months.

Bert and Connie are the sons of Jesse Phelps, 316 E. Third street. They attended local schools, and are well-known here although both have been busy elsewhere for years.

Bert's wife passed away in Quincy Jan. 30. There are two children, a son 17 and a daughter 19.

JHS Rips Griffin 71-53; Routt And ISD Dumped

Hot Second Half Wins For Crimsons

By BUFORD GREEN
Sports Editor

JACKSONVILLE got red-hot in the fourth quarter and scored 16 of the last 18 points in the game to break up a tight contest and roar to a convincing 71-53 victory over Griffin, at the JHS Bowl Friday night, to move into a first-place tie for the lead in the Capitol Conference.

The Crimsons trailed for a good part of the first half but rallied behind Rich Coble's ball-hawking and scoring late in the third period to zoom into a ten-point margin entering the final eight minutes.

Griffin scored the first six points of the fourth quarter to get within four, but Duane Hess hit the next six and the Crimsons notched 14 straight points before the visitors could check the tide. When the surge ended the eventual winners held a safe 69-51 spread.

The second half was a near reversal of the first, in which Griffin had success in breaking the JHS press and fired a blazing 61% from the floor. The Cyclones managed only five of 22 from the field in the second half and ended up with 24 turnovers against the Crimsons' aggressive, pressing defense.

Revenge For Defeat
JHS, which ran its overall record to 9-7 and reversed an earlier 71-67 defeat at the hands of Griffin, had four players in double figures and shot a hot 50% from the floor for the contest. The winners also missed only one of 14 free tosses. The victory moves the JHS into a tie with Griffin for the loop lead, both with 3-2 marks. Griffin suffered its seventh loss in 18 games.

After trailing by three points early in the third period, Brown, Coble and Mounts swished outside buckets to propel the Crimsons into a 45-40 lead with 4:00 showing.

Landslide Starts
Griffin got within two twice before the landslide started. Mounts, Brown and Hess hit from in tight, two of the buckets coming off steals, for a 51-44 edge, then Coble, who was perfect from the field and free throw stripe, hit twice from the outside after pilfering the ball and shot the Crimsons into a 55-45 margin entering the final chapter. JHS hit eight of 11 shots in the quarter.

Reserve Larry Giel hit four quick points and Jim Drew two to start the final round and moved Griffin to within 55-51 with 5:40 to play.

Jacks Pull Away
Hess then hit a layup on a smooth out of bounds play, added a ten-footer and a subsequent drive through the Griffin defense for five straight. Brown canned a 20-footer, Robin Canterbury two charity throws, Brown another drive and Coble two free ones for the 18-point margin that was not to be questioned. Griffin were scoreless for five minutes in the surge.

Brown, Mounts and Hess also carried the winners in the tight first half. The lead changed hands five times in the half, with Griffin leading by six points on three occasions, behind guard Pat Sponsler. Late buckets by Mounts and Brown slicked the difference to 38-36 at intermission.

Brown and Hess ended up with 18 apiece for the Crimsons, aided by Mounts' 15 and Coble's ten. Drew and Sponsler scored 17 each for the losers.

Predicts Mays Will Break Mark

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Willie Mays' manager says the San Francisco Giants star outfielder will make day break Babe Ruth's home run record.

In an interview Friday from his Salt Lake City home, Herman Franks told Bob Hunter, Herald-Examiner baseball writer, "Mays is good for as long as he wants to go. He'll hang around long enough to top Ruth's record. I just talked to Willie Thursday. He's already in good shape. He watches his weight to the very ounce."

Franks said Mays, 35, could play another five years.

Ruth, the late left-handed hitter of the New York Yankees, had a lifetime record of 714 homers.

Mays is 172 behind that total, with 542 lifetime after hitting 37 last season. If he averaged 37 for the next five years, he'd add 185 to his total, making it 727 or 13 more than Ruth aggregate, which many baseball men figured was uncatchable.

ROBINSON GETS BIG RAISE
BALTIMORE (AP) — The world champion Baltimore Orioles have given their fancy fielding third baseman, Brooks Robinson, a pay hike estimated at $20,000 a year even though his batting average dropped 14 points last year.

On July 22, he was hitting .306 with 81 runs batted in. He then went into an extended slump and ended the season with an average of .269 and 100 RBI.

He batted .283 in 1965.

Tullius Drives Dart To Victory

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Bob Tullius let the fast Mustangs, Cougars and Camaros smash themselves into cripples; then pushed his year-old Dodge Dart to victory in the 300-mile Trans-American sedan race at Daytona International Speedway Friday.

Two minor collisions slowed or stopped the fastest new Mercury Cougars driven by Parnelli Jones of Palos Verdes, Calif., and Dan Gurney of Costa Mesa, Calif., as well as a hot 1967 Chevrolet Camaro driven by Mark Donohue of Stony Brook, N.Y.

A pair of Ford Mustangs handled by Jerry Titus of Sherman Oaks, Calif., and Richard Thompson of Alexandria, Va., bowed to mechanical trouble.

Through it all, the 36-year-old Tullius kept his Dart under a steady hand and nursed it to victory in 3 hours, 1 minute, 56 seconds for an average speed of 99.361 miles an hour.

Taking over the lead on the 39th of the 79 laps, Tullius stayed there and finished 20th in front of second-place Craig Fisher of Toronto, Ont., in a Chevrolet Camaro.

Magnavox Astro-Sonic Stereo

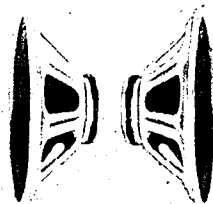

...revolutionary solid-state components provide far greater Stereo FM/AM performance...plus ten times the efficiency of tube sets!

Now—music can be re-created with such incredible tonal beauty and fidelity, that Astro-Sonic Stereo by Magnavox truly fulfills the claim of "concert hall realism!"

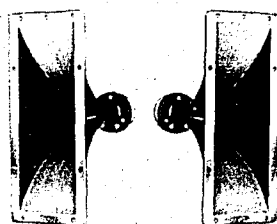

100-Watts Music Power from this solid-state amplifier, provides a vast reservoir of usable, undistorted power—so essential to high fidelity. This should not be confused with today's meaningless claims of "peak power" which does not represent usable power. To reproduce true bass tones (40 cycles) requires a thousand times as much power as do mid-range tones, for your hearing is a thousand times more responsive at 3,000 cycles. Witness how a single trumpet (mid-range tones) pierces clearly through the combined efforts of 90 to 100 musicians in a symphony orchestra.

New Super-Sonic 15" Bass Woofers with a magnet weight of 48 ounces best utilize the tremendous power of Astro-Sonic Amplifiers. They reproduce distinctive low-frequency bass without distortion. Magnavox woofers give bass a true tone instead of a "rumble" which merely obliterates the rest of the musical range—masking the definition of instruments—and, in general, detracting from the full beauty of the music you hear.

Two 1,000 cycle Exponential Treble Horns have the equivalent acoustical efficiency of 20 cone speakers, and re-create even the most difficult percussion instrument tones with a purity and clarity unattainable by any other means.

Magnavox Stereo FM and Monaural FM/AM Radio—uses no tubes—achieves an entirely new standard of performance and dependability, with remarkable station-pulling power and fidelity.

The exclusive Micromatic Record Player exceeds all others in reliability—its accuracy matches an electric clock. The featherlight 1/10 ounce tracking pressure banishes record and stylus wear . . . your records can last a lifetime!

The Diamond Stylus is guaranteed 10 years—under normal use—against excessive wear! Upon return, if inspection reveals distortion-creating wear—our store will replace the Diamond Stylus without charge. Labor—if any—not included.
